PVC gaskets for aluminum window systems

Mo60 and Mo68 are co-extruded PVC profiles for Aluminum window systems. The rigid part of both of the profiles is in modifications for different types of Aluminum window frames. The PVC materials used in this profiles has formulation which allows good resistance to extreme temperature diversions.

PINE profile is flexible PVC profile for aluminum window systems. We have developed nine different dimensions suitable for different types profile systems.

RRP is a flexible PVC profile, especially designed for frames with nets/anti insect/. We have designed four modifications for the different frame types. RRP assures good connections between the frame and the net.

DD gaskets are flexible PVC profiles. They have been specially designed for wooden window frames and doors. All types of DD approve high oburation between the opening parts. The profiles keep constant elasticity during the time
